

Since December 2011 : Chief Executive Officer of BNP Paribas

▶ Graduation

- Engineer by training, Jean-Laurent Bonnafé is an alumnus of the prestigious Ecole Polytechnique and Ecole des Mines engineering schools in Paris

▶ Career

- May 2010            Member of the Board of Directors of the BNP Paribas Group Director of BNL, BNP Paribas Fortis, BNP Paribas Personal Finance and Carrefour
- May 2009            Chief Executive Officer of Fortis Bank while continuing his other roles within the Group, he managed the integration process and the creation of BNP Paribas Fortis
- 2008                Chief Operating Officer for BNP Paribas Appointed of the Group's Retail Banking operations
- 2006                Appointed Managing Director of BNL
- 2002                Member of the BNP Paribas Executive Committee
Head of French Retail Banking for the Group
- 2000                Following the merger of BNP with Paribas, he led the post-merger and integration organization
- 1997                Head of Strategy and Development
- 1993                Large Corporations Division

After graduating, Jean-Laurent Bonnafé joined the Ministry of Industry and then became a technical advisor to the Minister of Foreign Trade.